| 입력 프롬프트(원문) | Handheld documentary-style comedy shot inside a dark event control booth behind a large glass window; beyond the glass, a dim auditorium of a Korean tech education info session. Faces are lit only by cold blue monitor light, slightly high webcam-like angle. Two people: a Korean man in his early 50s (the team lead), short graying hair, black rimless glasses, charcoal suit jacket over a black turtleneck, wireless headset; and a Korean man in his mid 20s (the junior), messy black hair, black hoodie, staff lanyard with a blank white card, sitting at a desk with monitors. 0–2s: The team lead presses his headset and turns to the junior, and says in Korean: "민준아, 홍보영상 어디 있어?" 2–4s: The junior freezes, eyes darting, and mumbles in Korean: "아… 그게…" 4–5s: One second of awkward silence, only the hum of equipment. 5–8s: The junior forces a big confident smile, spins to his keyboard and says loudly in Korean: "지금 AI로 금방 만들게요!" Deadpan Korean office comedy timing, realistic, natural acting. No on-screen text, no subtitles, no logos. No background music. All dialogue is spoken in Korean only. |

| 입력 프롬프트(원문) | Epic wide shot of a vast night sky full of stars, slow dramatic push-in. A lone figure stands on a rocky cliff edge above clouds: a fictional Korean woman in her 60s called the Master, long silver braided hair, stern weathered face, wearing a long deep navy cloak embroidered with silver constellation patterns, carrying a sword shaped like a glowing computer keyboard with visible keycaps. She faces the camera with a grave, unblinking expression, cloak whipping in the wind. Her voice is deep and solemn, spoken slowly. She says in Korean: "별이 말했다." She pauses half a second, then says in Korean: "평범한 자에게도, 부름은 온다." Sound: a huge original orchestral brass hit with deep timpani and choir swell building under the lines, howling wind. Absurdly grand and completely serious. Cinematic live-action Korean TV commercial, 35mm anamorphic lens, shallow depth of field, dramatic rim lighting, deadpan comedic tone with a perfectly serious film-trailer look, natural skin texture, 24fps, 16:9, no on-screen text, no subtitles, no captions, no logos, no watermark. |

| 입력 프롬프트(원문) | Medium two-shot, locked camera, sunlit university library steps in cream stone. On the left, a fictional Korean woman in her 20s, a literature student, round wire-frame glasses, black shoulder-length hair with a yellow hair tie, cream cardigan, hugging a tall stack of paperback books, walking up the steps. On the right, a fictional Korean woman in her 60s called the Master, long silver braided hair, stern weathered face, wearing a long deep navy cloak embroidered with silver constellation patterns, carrying a sword shaped like a glowing computer keyboard with visible keycaps, standing heroically with her keyboard sword raised toward the sky, wind blowing her cloak. The Master says in Korean in a booming epic voice: "깨어나라, 그대여. 코디세이로 오라." The young woman stops and says in Korean with a small confused voice: "...저 국문과인데요?" Both hold a deadpan silence for one second, the Master only slowly raises one eyebrow, total silence, music cuts dead. Then the Master lowers the sword and says in Korean in a flat, bored, casual voice: "입구에 전공 칸 없다." Sound: grand orchestral hit on the first line, then a sudden record scratch and dead silence. Cinematic live-action Korean TV commercial, 35mm anamorphic lens, shallow depth of field, dramatic rim lighting, deadpan comedic tone with a perfectly serious film-trailer look, natural skin texture, 24fps, 16:9, no on-screen text, no subtitles, no captions, no logos, no watermark. |

On the left, a fictional Korean man in his 20s just discharged from the army, short buzz-cut hair, olive-khaki hoodie, olive duffel bag on his shoulder, upright posture, standing at attention. a fictional Korean woman in her 60s called the Master, long silver braided hair, stern weathered face, wearing a long deep navy cloak embroidered with silver constellation patterns, carrying a sword shaped like a glowing computer keyboard with visible keycaps stands on the right with her keyboard sword pointing at him. The Master says in Korean in a booming epic voice: "그대 안의 코드도 깨어났다. 코디세이로 오라." The young man snaps a crisp salute and says in Korean: "충성! ...통장이 비었습니다!" while turning his empty wallet inside out. Both hold a deadpan silence for one second, a gust of dust, total silence. Then the Master says in Korean in a flat, bored voice: "장학금 받으며 배운다." At the top of the stairs stands the Master, a fictional Korean woman in her 60s with long silver braided hair, a stern weathered face, wearing a long deep navy cloak embroidered with silver constellation patterns, holding a sword shaped like a glowing computer keyboard. Below her, three young people arrive from three separate empty wooden doorframes and stop awkwardly facing each other. They keep exactly these outfits: a Korean woman in her 20s with round wire-frame glasses and a yellow hair tie wearing a cream cardigan and hugging a stack of books; a Korean man in his 20s with a buzz cut wearing an olive-khaki hoodie with an olive duffel bag; a Korean man in his 30s with messy hair wearing a cobalt-blue dress shirt and navy tie. The office worker says in Korean: "...저분들도요?" The army man salutes and says in Korean: "충성! 동료입니까!" The Master says in Korean in a flat deadpan voice: "여기 교수는 없다. 동료가 있다. 나도 동료한테 배웠다." Then all three young people raise their fists together and shout in Korean in unison: "같이 갑니다!" Sound: awkward silence with wind, then a grand orchestral swell and choir on the shout. Cinematic live-action Korean TV commercial, 35mm lens, shallow depth of field, natural skin texture, realistic people, 24fps, 16:9, absolutely no on-screen text, no subtitles, no captions, no lower-third text, no logos, no watermark. |

이유·결과. B02·F01은 1차 생성의 발음/인물 불일치로 재생성(storyboard_v4_booth.md 제작 결과). v2 프롬프트는 0~2초 정적 후 2~6초에 "every syllable distinct"로 천천히 외치게 했고, 편집에서 1.0초부터 4.3초 길이를 썼다.

Wide locked shot of a long stone staircase floating in the starry cosmos. a fictional Korean woman in her 20s, a literature student, round wire-frame glasses, black shoulder-length hair with a yellow hair tie, cream cardigan, hugging a tall stack of paperback books, a fictional Korean man in his 20s just discharged from the army, short buzz-cut hair, olive-khaki hoodie, olive duffel bag on his shoulder, upright posture, and a fictional Korean man in his 30s, an exhausted office worker, messy hair, cobalt-blue dress shirt, loose navy tie, white employee ID badge on a lanyard, stand side by side on the steps, smiling. Above them stands a fictional Korean woman in her 60s called the Master, long silver braided hair, stern weathered face, wearing a long deep navy cloak embroidered with silver constellation patterns. 0-3s: the three young people look straight at the camera and shout together in Korean, in unison: "같이 갑니다!" 3-4s: brief pause. 4-8s: the Master smiles faintly and says in Korean in a calm, warm voice: "여기 교수는 없다. 동료가 있다." Sound: grand original orchestral swell on the shout, then gentle wind. Cinematic live-action Korean TV commercial, 35mm anamorphic lens, shallow depth of field, dramatic rim lighting, natural skin texture, 16:9, no swords, no weapons, no on-screen text, no subtitles, no captions, no logos, no watermark. All dialogue is spoken in Korean only, never Italian or any other language.

Wide locked shot, filmed for real on a practical set with real atmospheric haze and consistent lighting, not a composite, of a long stone staircase floating in the starry cosmos. a fictional Korean woman in her 20s, a literature student, round wire-frame glasses, black shoulder-length hair with a yellow hair tie, cream cardigan, hugging a tall stack of paperback books, a fictional Korean man in his 20s just discharged from the army, short buzz-cut hair, olive-khaki hoodie, olive duffel bag on his shoulder, upright posture, and a fictional Korean man in his 30s, an exhausted office worker, messy hair, cobalt-blue dress shirt, loose navy tie, white employee ID badge on a lanyard, stand side by side on the steps, smiling, exactly three young people and no one else. Above them stands a fictional Korean woman in her 60s called the Master, very long silver hair in a single thick braid over her shoulder, wrinkled stern weathered face, wearing a long deep navy cloak embroidered with silver constellation patterns. 0-3s: the three young people look straight at the camera and shout together in Korean, in unison: "같이 갑니다!" 3-4s: brief pause. 4-8s: the Master smiles faintly and says in Korean in a calm, warm voice: "여기 교수는 없다. 동료가 있다."
